

MACHINERY TECHNICIAN / SALES

Proptek is a UK based company which has been very active in California for 24 years. Six years ago the company diversified from our core business of horticultural container sales and began to supply specialist horticultural machinery. For further details please view the following link:-

<http://www.proptek.com/pages/vegetables/machinery/index.php>

Now we have established our machinery we are looking for a multi-skilled individual based in California to help with our development of this market and help take it to the next level.

- We require someone with the following skills:-
 - Formal Agricultural Engineering training
 - Field experience in machinery installation and service.
 - Ideally some sales experience

- The role will involve:
 - Helping with the development of products for the California market.
 - Nursery visits related to market research, sales and also service/breakdown visits.
 - Installation of machinery.
 - Training customers on use of machinery.
 - Liaising with other Proptek staff and factories.

- This position will be very goal orientated with excellent rewards for high achievers.

Please apply by emailing Peter Lindley (peter@proptek.com) with your CV and covering letter explaining why you have applied.